

The Coram Deo Pastoral Equipping Process for the Alliance of Reformed Churches

The Pastoral 36 CORE Competencies Track

Description of Equipping Process

Coram Deo offers an 18-month pastoral equipping process for meeting the 36 CORE competencies for the Alliance of Reformed Churches – focusing on the three core competencies in each of the twelve discipline areas.

Cohort-Based

Participants will journey with a cohort (comprised of other participants in the pastoral formation process) over the course of the 18 months. Cohorts will meet two times per month for 90 minutes each time.

Local Mentor

Each participant will meet monthly with a local mentor, who typically would be the local church pastor.

Coram Deo Coached Mentoring

In addition to the cohort and monthly meetings with the mentor, the participant will also meet individually with the Coram Deo formation mentor each quarter for administrative assistance, processing progress and coached mentoring via Zoom or in-person when possible.

Time Commitment

The overall time commitment will be approximately 4-6 hours weekly (or about 360 clock hours for the 18 months) and can be done while working a full-time job.

In-Ministry Formation

The Coram Deo process is best engaged while a leader is actively involved in ministry.

Wholistic Formation

We intentionally engage a process of formation that involves the Heart, Head, Hands and Feet (Being, Knowing, Doing and Serving).

Competency-Based

In contrast to course-based or more academic approaches to learning, Coram Deo utilizes a competency-based approach, which results in demonstrated competencies upon completion.

Price

$100 monthly or $1,800 for the 18-month program for the participant. We also recommend an additional $100 monthly or $1,800 from the local church. We have an honor-based grant system in place for churches and candidates who may not be able to afford these amounts.

Personalized Approach

Minimum participants per cohort is 3. Maximum is 7.

Certified

The Coram Deo programs are certified by the Alliance of Reformed Churches. Coram Deo has been named as a preferred provider by the Alliance.
